Innovation for Health

Innovation for Health is the premier event on healthcare innovations in the Netherlands. This high-end conference brings together more than 800 key players and stakeholders who play decisive parts in the development, funding, regulation and implementation of innovations for prevention and healthcare.

Poster Presentations

The poster presentations are a part of Innovation for Health, dedicated to give PhD students the stage to showcase their Life Sciences or Healthcare related research. A selection of the submitted projects will get the opportunity to present their research to the jury and have a chance on winning the prestigious Upcoming Scientist Award 2018, powered by Genmab.
